

THE LONDON RAILWAY RECORD

Cumulative Index

Issues 1 -105

Indexing is principally by location, i.e. station / goods yard / depot / etc name. Some line names are indexed too (including all Underground lines) – but the items are always listed under location name as well. (Articles about a single station only are not necessarily included in the ‘line’ entry). For dead-end branches the terminus station name should be looked up.

The name used for stations etc is usually the name applicable in the early BR period (if still open), or the name used at the time of closure (if closed). However no precise or pedantic policy has been followed on this! Stations commonly referred to by more than one name are cross-referenced. Where two or more consecutive stations with the same name existed on different but nearby sites on the same line, no distinction is made. Where there are two or more stations on different lines with the same, or confusingly-similar, names, the company name is appended for clarity.

DLR stations are listed individually but Croydon Tramlink stops are not (except, sometimes, those that are former stations).

Minor refurbishments (including LT retilings), temporary closures, lift replacements, etc are not included in the indexing.

Italics indicate current news items (in the For The Record pages).

The listing of a long run of pages does not necessarily mean that every one of the pages in question will have references to the station etc in question.

All photographs taken at stations etc are listed under the station etc name, except where virtually nothing is visible of the station structures.
